

The Linguistics Department at the University of Kansas is pleased to announce the

2007 Mid-America Linguistics Conference

The conference will be held over the weekend of October 26-28, 2007 at the Lawrence campus. We are especially pleased to be hosting MALC this year, as it coincides with the 50th anniversary of the Linguistics Department at the University of Kansas.

October 26-
28, 2007

University of Kansas

Plenary speaker: Dr. David Poeppel of the University of Maryland

General sessions for all areas of linguistics, including phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics, psycholinguistics, L1/L2 acquisition, neurolinguistics, historical linguistics, sociolinguistics, and pragmatics. Special interest sessions on neurolinguistics and less commonly studied languages.

Abstract Submission Deadline: August 22, 2007

All submissions for presentations and posters are welcome. Conference proceedings will be published electronically in the Kansas Working Papers in Linguistics. Please limit abstracts to 500 words and submit in Word or pdf format to malc@ku.edu and indicate whether the submission is for the general, special interest, or poster sessions. See the conference website for more information: http://www2.ku.edu/~ling/malc_conference.shtml

Pre-registration for the conference will be available online -
Cost: $40 ($20 for students) Deadline: October 12, 2007

Registration online after October 12 or on-site will be $45 ($25 for students).

MALC

Linguistics at KU
1541 Lilac Lane
Lawrence, KS 66044-3177
785-864-3450
malc@ku.edu